Roselike Apple Blossom.

The Bulletin has received from a Preston correspondent a very pretty apple blossom picked from a tree which has fruit upon it about the size of marbles, and inquires "Why this roselike formation?"

While this resemblance of the apple blossom to the rose is not generally noticed by the people, it is never overlooked by a botanist. The rose, the apple, and the strawberry all belong to the same family, and the resemblance is found in the flower. They might be regarded as cousins to one another.

Why the blossom was so late in appearing this year is what is called a freaky performance in nature and the why of it is not so easily discovered.

NO WOOD BY RAIL
FOR MANUFACTURERS.

Chairman Jensen Receives This Order from Fuel Administration.

Chairman Martin E. Jensen of the Norwich fuel committee has sent to all the manufacturers in the Norwich district a copy of Bulletin No. 53 from the national fuel administration, through which manufacturers are advised that they may not use wood for fuel in excess of the fuel permitted by the fuel administration order, provided this wood does not require railroad transportation.

The following is the notice: State Fuel Administrator's Bulletin No. 53.

The following is a quotation from a letter received from the United States fuel administration at Washington: "To State Fuel Administrators: The United States fuel administration has decided that, in connection with the orders curtailing consumption of fuel, the manufacturers and producers of the various commodities may be permitted to burn wood in excess of the fuel permitted by the order where this wood does not require railroad transportation.

This last condition is essential and permission should not be granted any manufacturer unless the wood to be used is procurable by other means.

"We desire, therefore, to grant any manufacturer permission to burn wood in excess of the fuel permitted by the order where this wood does not require railroad transportation, but must ask that they make themselves responsible to police these cases. We shall refer such inquiries to the state fuel administrator for his decision. We shall give the power to authorize the use of wood.

"There are two points which we desire to emphasize: "That this permission only applies to wood which can be brought in without the use of railroad transportation.

"That the state administrator is held responsible to police these cases and that the fuel men must burn more than their proportion of other fuel.

"Very truly yours," "Director of Conservation," "P. B. NOYES," "All manufacturers will please observe the foregoing instructions."

MARTIN E. JENSEN, Chairman Local Fuel Committee.

ANOTHER CHANGE TO SECURE HOME GARDEN.
Committee Has a Few Desirable Lots to Be Assigned.

The home garden committee has a few very desirable garden plots vacant near DeWolf's switch at Trading Cove. This is just the right time to plant potatoes and beans for winter use, and these plots are all ready for planting now. Anyone that has not already applied should put in their application at once at the Chamber of Commerce, or at the Junior Red Cross on Huntington lane are also vacant.

PREPARE FOR THE CURSED CUT-WORM.

The way to handle the pernicious cutworm, says Supervisor Charles A. Hagberg, is to scatter a poisoned bait on the ground a few days before setting out the plants. A single row of sprouting seeds are coming through the soil. Cutworm "food" can be bought ready prepared or it can be made according to the following formula: One pound of wheat bran or cornmeal, one ounce of white arsenic or paris green, one-half cup of molasses, the juice of half a lemon and two quarts of water. Distribute in small particles where wanted.

Ordinary birch twigs or branches of other deciduous trees or shrubs are the best means of supporting peas, as they allow the vines to climb in a natural fashion, preventing crowding with the consequent bad effects. When seed is sown in wide rows a double row of pea brush, one on each side of the row, is preferred, even though you are short of brush. The chief fault of a single row is danger from storms. Do not wait until a storm has flattened down the vines before supporting them; the brush should be applied when the vines are about six to eight inches high. There is no need of attempting to tie or train the vines; they will take very good care of themselves if you give them the necessary support, before they feel the lack of it. A poultry wire support is a very good substitute for brush, the mesh being at least two inch, to facilitate the picking of the pods. A single row of support is customary when wire is used.

Memorial Day Service.

In accordance with the proclamation of the president, there will be a short service of intercession and prayer at Trinity Episcopal church today (Thursday) at 10:30 a. m.

HIGHWAYMAN IS SHOT AT BOZRAH

Theodore Russell, One of Two Men Who Attacked Frank Hertz on Occum Road, Is Now in Backus Hospital—Bullet From Revolver Fired By Will Church Brought Him Down—Other Man Flees Toward Colchester.

Theodore Russell, 20, of Troy, N. Y., one of the two men who attacked and robbed Frank Hertz of the firm of Hertz Bros. of this city on a road in Balto about 10 o'clock Wednesday morning, was shot and captured Wednesday evening about 8:30 o'clock on a road in the south end of the town of Bozrah, and is now a patient in the Backus hospital here, with a Norwichean policeman on guard over him.

The other of the two highwaymen, whose name Russell says he does not know, escaped into a swamp for which both were making when Russell was shot. The other man was reported late Wednesday to have been seen traveling towards Colchester about a mile and a half this side of that place.

Will A. Church, a famous fox hunter of Bozrah and a crack shot with a rifle, was the man who put 28 caliber revolver bullet into Russell's hip from a distance of about 100 feet, that brought him to a halt and made him a prisoner.

Deputy Sheriff John J. McGuire of Balto led an automobile party in a search for the two men all Wednesday afternoon and into the night. While Chief George Linton of this city had Policeman Frank Hertz and Charles Smith in an automobile scouring the roads of Bozrah and Fitchville. They had with them Constable Kingberger of Fitchville. At least four different times the Norwichean officers got on the trail of the men, finding places where they had ducked into a piece of woods, but the fugitives always escaped by the automobile with the officers in it and managed to slip from one piece of woods to another.

Two Jewish residents of that section joined in the chase in an automobile when they saw the fugitives in the road, and they picked up Church to help them capture the men. As the two men saw them coming they started to get away into a swamp where they could hide, when one of the Jews handed Church a revolver and told him they wanted to get the men. Church, he afterwards explained, heard that the two men were officers and that they had a revolver each, and he wanted to help them. He brought Russell down with a shot that went into the man's hip.

Russell was brought to the Backus hospital by Dr. Louis T. Cass. In the doctor's machine and was reported as resting comfortably at the hospital.

Russell claims that he was the one who shot the attack on Hertz and that the other man did not know what he was doing. Russell says the other man was driving the automobile at the time, with Hertz sitting next to him in the front seat, while he was in the rear seat.

It has been stated that he used a hammer to hit Hertz in the head with, striking several blows, but he stated to the officers that he picked up a pair of hammers that were in the automobile and used these to deal the blows on the back of Hertz's head.

The chase after the remaining fugitive will be pushed today and it is believed he will soon be captured. The two men covered a lot of ground on Wednesday and were kept continually on the move when the officers got after them.

MADE DARING ATTACK ON FRANK HERTZ

Norwich Butcher Was Knocked Out and Robbed on Sprague Road.

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Balto, May 29.—One of the boldest and most daring robberies in New London county in a number of years was perpetrated about 10 o'clock Wednesday morning, a short distance from the Little River road in the western part of Sprague road, when a man about 18 years of age assaulted and robbed Frank Hertz, a butcher of Norwich, as he was riding in his automobile.

Hertz had purchased some cattle from a farmer in Canterbury, and had made arrangement to come to Balto to lead the stock back to Norwich. He was in a Ford automobile with two young men when he was overtaken by the two men who were in a light-colored car.

Rev. F. R. DesBureault, pastor of St. Joseph's church, Occum, was traveling in his touring car when he discovered a man in a light-colored car driving just above the town line. As the priest approached the place he found Mr. Hertz in a comatose condition and bleeding profusely from the head. He saw that the man was bleeding and asked him if he had met with an accident.

Mr. Hertz could not answer and Father DesBureault suspected that he was either met with foul play or had been crashed into by an automobile traveling southbound.

The church pastor noticed that the truck was driven by a man who was wearing a light-colored suit and that the spokes in the wheels were damaged from severe strain as he carried Hertz to his (Father DesBureault's) machine. He glanced at the clock on the dashboard of the car and found that it was headed. He could not see where any crash had occurred as all the boards were intact.

The fugitives were seen by the officers of Dr. Bourne's car. Upon examination of the deep incisions in Hertz's head Dr. Bourne, after rendering first aid, advised that Hertz be taken to the hospital at Norwich.

Shortly after being administered aid by the local physician Hertz came out of his coma and made the following statement to Father DesBureault and the doctor:

"I had purchased some cattle from a farmer and needed men to assist me in driving the cows to Norwich. The driver of the light-colored car had seen two young men hanging about the streets of Norwich, and on Wednesday morning encountered the same young men and I started on my journey. I saw that the car was heading toward Norwich, and knowing that I needed assistance I offered the boys jobs. Shortly after leaving the city one of the young men asked me if I had money in my pocket. I said yes and he asked me when your work is completed. All went well until we neared the site where the assault took place.

"The young man who was in the car was sitting beside him, watching him operate the machine. The other fellow was standing in the rear of the truck. As Hertz approached Little River road he received a severe blow with some blunt instrument that caused a deep incision about five inches long from the top of his right ear to the lower part of his neck. This blow was quickly followed by two other blows which were delivered with severity on the top of his head, causing a large lump on the left side of his head and a wound of a subcutaneous nature on the right side of the head. Hertz was badly cut about the face. He was very feeble after receiving medical attention.

After the injured man had made his statement, Father DesBureault drove to the home of Deputy Sheriff John J. McGuire to notify him of the robbery. Deputy McGuire's wife informed him that her husband had left Balto on the 10:30 trolley car out of Balto for Norwich to place a prisoner in the county jail. Mrs. McGuire immediately notified Chief of Police Linton of the Norwichean police force of the offense. The chief in turn called the jail and Deputy McGuire hurried to Balto to try to overtake the criminals. They had a two-hour start on him. After he had been given a description and facts concerning the case, he constable called the different farmhouses on Scotland road to ascertain if the two had been seen traveling in that direction. Mrs. Byrd Skersnowski, a butcher, started on the trail of the criminals and traced them as far as Yantic, where they lost trace of them.

Deputy McGuire said Wednesday evening that the chiefs of police in different cities in New London and Windham counties had been notified to keep a strict watch for the fugitives.

Mr. Hertz also stated that the boys who delivered the knockout blow asked him if they could borrow money from him shortly after leaving Norwich. This was represented by our flag, that Hertz was carrying a roll. Had it not been for the discovery made by Father DesBureault, Mr. Hertz said he carried considerable money on his person when he left Norwich. The truck is junk insofar as repairing is concerned. Hertz could not say just what the amount of his loss could be placed at.

SUED FOR $6,000 ON SLANDER CHARGE.

Two Norwich Men Bring Legal Actions Against Samuel Beit.

Samuel Beit of this city has been made the defendant in two slander suits, each for $6,000 damages, brought by Jacob Gordon and Samuel Goldberg, both of Norwich. Both plaintiffs claim that Beit has been spreading malicious rumors that Beit is alleged to have spoken were false and malicious.

In the Goldberg suit the writ alleges that on May 5th, 1918, at Norwich, the defendant (Beit) spoke in the hearing of Joseph N. Rosenberg, Michael Levin, Aaron Gordon and others, all of Norwich, the following words concerning the plaintiff (Goldberg):

"You (meaning the plaintiff) are a thief, and a robber, and your company (meaning the Max Gordon & Son corporation, of that town, of which the plaintiff is a partner, and still is, a director and officer) has been robbing the people for years."

The grounds of action in the Gordon suit are given as follows: On May 5, 1918, at the town of Norwich, the defendant (Beit) spoke in the hearing of Joseph N. Rosenberg, Aaron Gordon, Michael Lubchansky, Samuel Bloom and others, all of Norwich, the following words concerning the plaintiff (Gordon):

"You (meaning the plaintiff) stole your money. Where did you (meaning the plaintiff) get your money? I'll show you up, and how you stole your money."

HELEN CUPRAK WINNER

IN SPEAKING CONTEST

At W. C. T. U. County Conference—Nine Boys and Girls Competed.

The New London County W. C. T. U. conference was held Wednesday at the Central Baptist church vestry, and opened at 10:45 a. m. The county president, Mrs. H. Addie Randall called the meeting to order, and after a few remarks all united in singing America with Mrs. Arthur F. Wyman as accompanist. Mrs. Randall read the 14th chapter of John and Mrs. L. K. Fuller offered an earnest prayer, which was followed by the hymn, How Firm a Foundation. The treasurer, Miss H. G. Cross reported the cash on hand $48.16, after meeting all the county's financial calls.

Mrs. Randall told about the W. C. T. U. home at Camp Devens which has been furnished to accommodate mothers, sisters and sweethearts who go to visit the boys. Recreation rooms for the boys have been fitted up and a motherly lady is there, who is called "mother," and assists in making all visitors "at home."

Mrs. Anna C. L. Fenner spoke on the Duty of Citizens, and tried to impress all with the great necessity of holding such meetings annually, as a sacred trust. Miss Nellie Starr, state and county superintendent of anti-smoking, tried to impress all with the importance of the new leaflets, and urged all to avail themselves of all opportunities to train the young to refrain from the use of the cigarette.

Mrs. Hetherington told of a thrilling experience which she had when a man who is amassing money from the sale of cigarettes said: "I want to live to last two years longer than I may become a millionaire." There is nothing too severe to be meted out to such scamps. Mrs. Fuller also spoke on the cigarette question, and told some stirring facts concerning their terrible effects, and how some of their firms fool the public. Mrs. Fenner said if smokers would all deny themselves a cigarette for one week, they could more than keep the soldiers and sailors well supplied with tobacco.

Mrs. Newbury gave a very interesting account of how the W. C. T. U. and Red Cross are working in unison. Rev. A. F. Purkiss made a brief but cheering address, and cheered the workers, and urged them on as the end seems apparently in sight. He told that at the Capital Convention recently held at Atlantic City, instead of sending a petition to Washington, D. C., it was voted to send five men to inform our representatives there that the Baptists the country over want prohibition.

Mrs. Fenner gave a very interesting paper on War Relief, or activities of women. Ever since
